

Go Beyond E-mail for More Effective Team Collaboration

Are your teams using e-mail to collaborate? Help them do more.

Watch this video tutorial on creating workspaces that boost team productivity.

Thank you for your interest in Novell collaboration solutions. We hope you found the information you were looking for.

If you use Novell GroupWise® for your e-mail and calendaring needs, you're off to a great start. But if your teams are relying too much on e-mail for group collaboration—e.g., editing and commenting on content—you should check out Novell Teaming.

Teaming lets you establish team workspaces to store and access all your project-related content and tasks. Now your teams can create, share, discuss and manage information with ease. Better yet, Teaming works seamlessly with GroupWise.

For more information, watch this video tutorial: Introduction to Novell Teaming.

Depend on Novell Teaming for your most important collaboration needs:

- Set up team workspaces in minutes—no IT assistance required
- Use social tools (e.g., wikis, blogs, discussion forums) to increase productivity
- Automate workflow to help team members track status and progress of shared documents

Request a sales call to see how we can help you improve team collaboration in your company.